SPRING/SUMMER 2007

LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

BUILD THE BARN!

First of all, I'd like to thank our board members, especially our President Pattye Benson, for a renewed and very energetic effort to rebuild the historic Jones Log Barn in Wilson Farm Park. In February, as a follow-up to our May 2006 Community Meeting, we brought together volunteers to form the nucleus of committees required to BUILD THE BARN! Fundraising, Building, Program/Operations, Communications and Project Management Committees are now up and running. After a brief recap of our efforts to rebuild the Jones Log Barn, the committee members got down to work. The committees will meet on a regular basis until we actually BUILD THE BARN!

Additional committee members are wanted and very much welcome; please call me directly at 484-202-8187 if you want to help with this project.

Here is a partial list of BUILD THE BARN committee members. Friends? Neighbors? Perhaps you can give them a hand and help us to BUILD THE BARN!

Much of our "charge" is a result of the Trust being a part of Tredyffrin 300 activities, discussed elsewhere in the newsletter. Tredyffrin 300 will be a great way to involve you and your family in the Tredyffrin community. And it greatly benefits the Trust: A portion of the proceeds generated from the celebration will go directly to the Trust - to BUILD THE BARN!

The newly energized BUILD THE BARN Building Committee, meanwhile has been working with contractors and the building trades to seek the best means to rebuild the Jones Log Barn. Several companies have expressed the desire to provide manpower, time and materials. Interested?

John Sacharok, a newly elected Trust Board member, has kindly offered to serve as the General Contractor on the BUILD THE BARN project. Please call John Sacharok at (610)719-0232 ext.107 for specific ways you can help with the building process. Soon the Trust will request the Chester County Convention and Visitors Bureau to provide the remainder of a grant for architectural services.

Who knows, you could see "shovels" in the ground by year's end at Wilson Farm Park!

LOCAL HISTORY NOTES....FROM HERB FRY

Landmarks of Tredyffrin Development

The U.S. Census of 1910 showed Tredyffrin's population up 37% in the decade to just over 4,000 residents, a rate of gain not encountered again until the 1960s. Development followed the railroad along the spine of South Valley hill. Paoli, especially, added residents. A number of influences at work in the societal ferment of the day contributed to the influx of newcomers.

The process we call suburbanization was at work, aided by the Pennsylvania railroad which promoted suburban living and commuting. Wealthy Philadelphians increasingly wanted to live outside the city during the hot weather months. Devon had been created as a summer resort, but other local destinations also drew city folks. The railroad offered encouragement to its own executives to build new residences in the suburban areas. Electrification of the Paoli Local in 1915 attracted still more commuters.

The new residential areas were superimposed upon a society that already included small farmers, artisans, shopkeepers and mill hands. In addition, suburbanization attracted a middle class of professional men, service tradesmen, and shopkeepers who served the wealthy. The needs of the affluent also created a new under class of domestic servants, cooks, coachmen, and waiters. Thus, while the early suburbs were composed of a population drawn from all social strata, they were dominated socially and economically by the wealthy residents. To a considerable extent that social pattern prevailed until after World War II.

Immigration also played a role. Many workers who built the P & W Railway electric car line to Stafford were of Italian origin. After the line was completed in 1911, some workers and their families settled here. The villages of Howellville and Cedar Hollow also attracted immigrant laborers who worked in the nearby quarries.

Agriculture waned and the size of Tredyffrin farms diminished after several generations, but land subdivision began to be replaced by consolidation into larger estates. Chesterbrook Farm assembled by A. J. Cassatt in 1881 was a portent of suburbanization. P. C. Knox acquired Valley Forge Farm in 1903, followed by John R. K. Scott at Glenhardie, Frank Thompson at Brookmead, S. Laurence and Susanna Bodine at Valley Brook, Richard Haughton at Valley Mill, and Thomas Royal at Cressbrook Farm. The land held by these seven families totaled over 2,800 acres, almost a quarter of the township!

THE MILL AT ANSELMA

The Mill at Anselma, a National Historic Landmark, is "the most complete known example of a custom grain mill". The Mill is located in West Pike-land on Route 401 just north of Route 113.

The Mill was built and began operation as a grist mill in 1747. It operated as a flour mill continually until the mid twentieth century. It has also operated as a saw mill, cider press and other businesses as well as serving as the post office for the village of Anselma. Water enters from the mill race, turns the water wheel which provides the power to turn the grist stones.

The property was acquired by The French and Pickering Creeks Conservancy and then transferred in 1998 to the Mill at Anselma Preservation and Educational Trust, a community non-profit corporation that was organized to restore the Mill.

The Anselma Trust has raised $1.6 million to date. Restoration began in 2001 and The Mill was opened to the public in 2004.

The Anselma Trust provides monthly milling demonstrations and sells the flour it produces to the public. The Mill is open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays from May through November.

More information about the Mill can be obtained at their website located at:
www.anselmamill.org.

THE TRUST NEEDS YOUR HELP!

Please consider helping to preserve your community with your time and your talents.

The Trust is in need of a Recording Secretary. We need someone to take minutes at our Trust Board meeting, the 4th Thursday of each month, 7-9 PM at the Township Building. There are 10 meetings per year. Patty Benson has served as both Secretary and President for several years, and she needs some help! Patty is willing to retain all the other Secretary responsibilities - she just needs someone willing to help with the monthly Board minutes. Can you spare a few hours a month?

If interested, please call Patty Benson (610)644-6759 or email her at patty@greatvalleyhouse.com.
