

The Battle of Brandywine

We are pleased to welcome back award-winning author and historian, Michael C. Harris to discuss the Battle of Brandywine.

Drawing on his book, Brandywine: A Military History of the Battle that Lost Philadelphia but Saved America, September 11, 1777, Harris exposes a lot of long held myths about the battle, explores why the Americans lost, and examines who was really responsible. As Harris notes, "General John Sullivan is often blamed for the American loss at Brandywine, but an examination of the primary documents paints a different picture." A not to be missed talk!

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

RECEPTION 7 PM
LECTURE 7:30 PM

DUPORTAIL HOUSE
297 ADAMS DR, CHESTERBROOK

Michael C. Harris is a graduate of the University of Mary Washington and American Military University and has worked for the National Park Service and the PA Historical & Museum Commission. He has conducted tours of many battlefields and currently teaches in the Philadelphia region. Michael's first book, Brandywine, was awarded The American Revolution Round Table of Richmond Book Award in 2014.
